Learn about Clinical Research --
Join the Lupus Research Institute (LRI) at the next:

AWARE for ALL

AWARE for All is a series of free and fun educational events hosted by the Center for Information & Study on Clinical Research Participation (CISCRP). Join LRI at the October 3 program in New York where you can:

- Learn about clinical trials for many diseases -- including lupus
- Receive free health screenings
- Hear from patients who've been in a trial
- Enjoy free refreshments

When: Saturday, October 3, 2015
11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Where: D'Angelo Center, St. John's University
8000 Utopia Parkway, Jamaica, NY

Advanced registration required - Register here

What's a clinical trial and why join one? One lupus patient, Kaamilah Gilyard, explains why she participates: "Emotionally, taking part in a trial is very empowering. I feel a sense of responsibility to the lupus community to do everything I can to help everyone dealing with this disease."

Hear Kaamilah speak and stop by the LRI's table at the event to learn more about lupus clinical studies. Click
